TOWN COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Committees for the Next Two Years are Appointed. Board of Health Makes Report. Various Matters are Disposed of.

The committees of the town council for the next two years were announced by President Butt at an adjourned meeting held Tuesday night. Mr. Butt named the following:

Finance: Dougherty, Trostle, Gilbert.

Highway: Gilbert, Trostle, Beard.

Sewer: Beard, Dougherty, Keith.

Advertising: Bushman, Keith, Baughman.

Ordinance: Keith, Bushman, Stock.

Market: Baughman, Trostle, Beard.

Light: Trostle, Stock, Baughman.

Property: Stock, Dougherty, Bushman.

All of the members were present at Tuesday evening's meeting except Mr. Keith and Mr. Beard, both of whom are out of town.

A communication, signed by fifteen residents of York street, was received asking that George W. Swartz, Oran Riggs, Harry Wentz and Roy Wentz be instructed to put sidewalks at their properties on the North side of York street in condition for use during the winter months, and that they also be asked to keep the walks free of snow. The secretary was instructed to send notices.

The Board of Health asked for its annual appropriation of $200 with $50 available now. It was granted. The bonds of the secretary, Dr. Henry Steyer, and Health Officer Wavell were presented and approved.

The Board of Health asked the repeal of the section of the health regulations ordinance which provides that the board shall supply the necessary provisions in the case of absolute quarantine. A State Act places this duty upon the Board of Poor Directors. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

It was decided to follow past custom and to have the first Tuesday of each month as the regular time for the monthly council meetings.

J. A. Holtzworth and Wm. Arch McClean appeared before Council to ask the use of the parlors in the Engine House for the band. The band has had the free use of the third floor of the Weaver building for some years but the room they have been occupying is now desired for a department of the store's business and the band must vacate. The fire company asked them $5 a month rent for the parlor—a sum the band does not feel able to pay. Mr. Raymond also spoke in behalf of the band. The matter was placed in the hands of the Property Committee for investigation and report at the next meeting.

The secretary was instructed to notify the property owners on the South side of Railroad street between Carlisle and Washington to put their pavements in proper condition for the winter.

Mr. Stock objected to the present system of having the Fire Company responsible for the care of the Engine House. He said council should care for its own property. His suggestion was adopted and Joseph Carver was elected janitor at a salary of $12 a month. The Fire Company had been receiving $11 a month and sub-letting the work.

The matter of salaries was disposed of. The secretary's salary remains $100 annually, the treasurer's $75 annually, the street commissioner's $40 monthly, the police $45 monthly. The salary of the borough attorney was raised from $50 to $100 a year with the understanding that this shall cover all legal work done by the attorney.

In the past the burgess has been receiving no salary but $125 a year for "office rent". Mr. Gilbert stated that the salary for the office in towns of less than 5000 population was fixed by law at $100 and this was adopted as Mr. Raymond's compensation, the ordinance committee being instructed to draw up the necessary amendment to the measure now covering the question. Mr. Dougherty moved that the new burgess be allowed, in addition, $25 for office rent, but the motion was lost. Mr. Dougherty and Mr. Baughman voting for it; Messrs Stock, Gilbert and Trostle against. Mr. Raymond said that anything the council determined upon in the matter of his compensation would be satisfactory to him.

The burgess called the attention of council to the reckless driving of automobiles through the streets of town and recommended a limit of twelve

COUNTY APPLES AT STATE SHOW

Adams County Fruit and Adams County Orchardists Take Part in Big Gathering at York. Local Apples Figure in State Show.

Adams County apples are figuring prominently in the big show now being conducted in connection with the convention of the State Horticultural Association at York.

W. T. Creasy, president of the State Horticultural Association, in commenting on the apple show said: "I felt proud of my state when I viewed that display of apples. It is a great show. No better fruit is grown anywhere. I attended the national apple show at Spokane, Washington and I think the apples I saw at the Coliseum are, in beauty and quality equal and in some instances superior to the fruit grown at Spokane."

The fruit exhibit is divided into 16 classes, principally plate fruit. There is also a display of box and barrel fruit. There are hundreds of plates of apples and a few pears. C. J. Tyson, of Flora Dale, is in charge of the fruit exhibit and has one of the largest displays.

Among the varieties of apples on display are Arkansas, Black Twig, Baldwin, Spitzenberg, Fameuse, Gano, Gravenstein, Grimes Golden, Hubbardston, Jonathan, Northern Spy, Oldenburg, Rambo, Greening, Rome Beauty, Smokehouse, Stayman, Summer Rambo, King, Twenty Ounce, Wagener, Wealthy, Winter Banana, Yellow Bellflower, York Imperial and York Stripe. First and second ribbons will be given as awards. An apple packing school is to be conducted.

No funds for premiums are available, as the horticultural association was not given an appropriation from the state this year. Ribbons are to be awarded instead of cash prizes as hitherto.

The State College exhibit occupies the gallery at the rear of the room and is in charge of W. R. Gorham, in charge of the extension work at State College. This shows the results of various experiments in horticulture and agriculture and the college farm. A feature of the display is an extensive exhibit of apples, showing the results of a five-year experiment on the value of fertilizers on apple trees and orchard work in general. The experiment is in charge of Dr. J. P. Stewart, of State College.

With 225 members present, many of them from Adams County, the State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania opened its fifty-fifth annual convention in the York County Court House on Tuesday where there were presented at two sessions, afternoon and night profitable talks and discussions on phases, conditions and progress of fruit growing in Pennsylvania and the great possibilities offered the farmer who will give intelligent attention to growing more and better fruit at less cost. Opening sessions of the allied organizations, American Berkshire Congress, State Dairy Union and the State Breeder's Association, held in the Colonial Hotel, were attended by the aggregate of about 125 agriculturists.

FINAL SESSION OF COMMISSION

Fiftieth Anniversary Commission Winds up its Affairs in Office of Governor Tener. Used No Part of Special Appropriation.

Pennsylvania's commission in charge of arrangements for the semi-centennial of the battle of Gettysburg closed its business at a meeting in Governor Tener's office on Tuesday with a balance of $3168 on hand and the $35,000 emergency appropriation made in the last hours of the legislature of 1913 untouched.

It was not necessary to draw upon the latter item which was provided when it was found that the number of veterans at the reunion would exceed expectations and the State did its share toward transporting and entertaining about 58,000 persons.

General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the United States Army, in his annual report to the Secretary of War, refers to the great camp of the veterans of the Civil War at Gettysburg last July and compliments the officers in charge upon the creditable sanitary conditions, the quality of the food and the absence of sickness and disability among so many old men.

Major J. E. Normoyle, who had charge of the laying out of the Gettysburg camp, is also praised for his great work as head of the relief army in Ohio during the flood period last year.

Considerable attention is also given in the report to the students' military camp, which seems to have been beneficial in many ways, especially in the fostering of a patriotic spirit, without which a nation loses its virility and falls into decay.

FIELDER NOW JERSEY GOVERNOR

Economy His Theme in Inaugural Address.

WOULD CURB LEGISLATION

Wants "Chancellor-Sheriff" Jury Law
and Small Board of Freeholders Act
Made Mandatory.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 21.—James Fair-man Fielder, who became acting governor of New Jersey when Woodrow Wilson was elevated to the presidency,
was inaugurated governor in his own right and for a full term.

Simplicity, total absence of ostentation and a ringing address by the new executive, calling for economy and efficiency in the state government and many sweeping reforms, marked the ceremonies in the Taylor Opera House in Trenton.

From midnight until noon New Jersey was without a head, the phrasing
of the constitution ending the power of Acting Governor Leon Taylor, the youngest executive the state ever has had, at the stroke of twelve on Monday night.

Jury reform and taxation reforms
are two of the most important subjects urged for legislative action by the governor. He asks that the "Chancellor-Sheriff" jury law, passed by the last legislature with a referendum clause attached, be passed again in mandatory form so as to take it out of the realm of litigation, which is holding up the enforcement of the present law.

Regarding taxation, he would repeal
the Hillyer maximum tax act, points
the way to obtain competent assessments and thus to do away with much complaint, and seeks to insure that banks pay their share of the state's taxation.

He points out that the referendum clause of the law, providing for small boards of freeholders, has invalidated that measure, and asks that it, too, be passed in mandatory form, as he believes it is desired by a large majority of the people of the state.

Like the presiding officers of the two houses of the legislature, the governor inveighed against useless introduction of bills and general swamping of the legislative machinery. He urged that few laws, but good and actually needed laws, be passed.

In like manner he cautioned the legislators to keep expenditures within the state's income, and suggested that some commissions and offices might be combined or abolished, with good results.

Other subjects discussed were prison reform, more careful administration of charitable institutions, adoption of two pending amendments to the constitution, preferential voting at the primaries and encouragement of agriculture.

Governor Fielder sent to the senate
the following nominations:
Attorney general, John W. Westcott,
Camden, to succeed Edmund Wilson.

State road commissioner, Edwin A.
Stevens, Hudson county, reappointed.
Justice of the supreme court, Thomas W. Trenchard, Mercer county, reappointed.

Circuit court judges, Frank P. Lloyd,
Camden, reappointed; Luther A.
Campbell, Bergen, to succeed Benjamin A. Vall.

Prosecutor of Monmouth county, R.
V. Lawrence.

District court judges—Second district, Bergen county, Guy L. Fake, reappointed; Third district, Bergen, Peter W. Stagg; First district, Jersey City, Charles L. Carrick, reappointed.

MARRIED WOMAN KILLS MAN

Shoots Farmer Attempting to Break
Into Her Home.

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 21.—In defense of her honor, Mrs. Constantia Benerow-icz, twenty-six years old, shot and killed John Hinz, a farmer, who had attempted to break into the house.

The bullet struck Hinz in the neck,
and he ran nearly half a mile, leaving a trail of blood behind him in his flight.

Before the body was found Mrs.
Benerowicz had reported to the police that she shot the man. She said he opened a window of her home and attempted to embrace her and pull her through the window. Then she caught up a revolver and fired two shots.

Judge Randall ordered her immediate release, and no warrant will be issued for her arrest.

RUNAWAY COUPLE.

Joel Foster and Dillah Bradley,
Who Elope From Pemberton.

Photos by American Press Association.

FOSTER TO SEE GIRL

Man Who Elope With Miss Bradley
to Confer With Family.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Dillah F.
Bradley, the eighteen-year-old Pemberton, N. J., girl, who eloped with Joel
M. Foster, her middle-aged employer, a month ago, will be permitted to see Foster in the presence of her relatives
when the companion in her escapade
arrives in Philadelphia from Mobile, Ala.

This plan was made, it was announced, after Foster had announced in telegrams to the girl that he was on his way north, and had urged her not to leave the Windsor hotel, where she was taken when she reached Philadelphia with her father, Harry E.
Bradley, until after he should see her.

The conference has been agreed to by relatives of the girl because of her refusal to move from the hotel until she has seen Foster. It is understood that with Miss Bradley when she and Foster meet, will be one or more of her relatives, and possibly an attorney.

This attitude took the hotel management by surprise, as until that time it was understood that the utmost precautions were to be taken to prevent Miss Bradley seeing Foster, and orders had been given that if he were to present himself at the hotel he was to be ejected.

CONGRESSMAN IN HOT FIST BATTLE

Johnson, of Kentucky, Has Fight With Lawyer.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Representative Ben Johnson, of Kentucky, and John R. Shields, a local attorney, engaged in a fist fight in the room of the house District of Columbia committee.

The faces of both men were cut and badly bruised. Johnson called for his pistol and a dozen members and clerks separated the combatants. More than a dozen blows were exchanged.

Shields was knocked down once in a general melee when various members were trying to separate the men.
Shields was shoved out into the hall.
He tried to return, but was prevented. He then disappeared from the building.

Johnson appeared later nursing his injuries with a towel. His face was cut in several places. Shields got an ugly gash under the chin.

The fight resulted from bitter feeling over an effort by Shields to have a bill giving firemen and policemen
the right to ride free on street cars reported by the committee. Shields was charged by Johnson, who is chairman of the District of Columbia committee, with being the "lobbyist" for the firemen and policemen.

Mount Royal, in his journey from poverty to the peerage of the proudest empire on earth, provided a history which is stranger than fiction and more alluring than romance.

For years he has stood out as the eldest of the "elder statesmen" of the empire; as one of the greatest of the great thinkers and men of action who stood above and beyond the game of party politics whenever the progress of the empire was under consideration.

Ninety-three years young, he owed his marvelous vitality to the severe training he underwent, both in his native land and in his adopted country. As lord high commissioner of Canada, it was only on rare occasions that he has failed to appear at his offices and transact whatever business was at hand. As the most potent single factor in the construction of the great railroad which connects the Canadian Atlantic and Pacific shores, his enthusiasm, his force and the power of his own convictions in the future of the country, through which the band of steel was to pass, bore down
all opposition.

Patriotism was instinctive with him.
During the Boer war he provided out of his own means, at a cost of nearly $1,000,000, for the enrollment, equipment and organization of 500 picked horsemen from the Canadian northwest, who manifested their courage and ability on many a South African field. This body of fighters since has become famous as the "Strathcona Horse."

It was as plain, Donald Alexander Smith, that Lord Strathcona first saw the light of day in a poor farmer's hut in Morayshire, Scotland, in 1821. His mother seemed always to be his heroine. "A mother's early training has everything to do with a man's career,"
he said. "I know mine had with me."

When I was very young she taught me to work and to save money—two very important things in a man's life."

Throughout his life he was dominated by a deeply religious spirit—the result of her early instruction. He was a Presbyterian. His education was limited, but sound, and through the influence of friends he was appointed to a position with the Hudson Bay company when he was a mere lad of seventeen.

From clerk at a company post in Labrador he climbed to the post of chief factor; then to the resident governorship of the company in America,
and finally, as an old man, to the honors of governor of the home company
in London.

IN MEMORIAM

January 21. In memory of Hadley L.
Hartzel who died one year ago to-day.
The cup was bitter, the loss severe.
To part with Hadley, we loved so dear,
The trial was hard, I'll not complain.
But hope to meet in Heaven again.
Gone from earth, yes, gone forever,
Home is sad, oh God, how dreary!
Lonesome, lonesome every spot
Listening for thy voice, dear Hadley,
Which we can never hear again.
By his Parents.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

VETERAN OF 80
GUILTY OF MURDER

Tells How He Put His Wife
Out of Her Misery.

SENTENCED TO SEVEN YEARS

Declares She Suffered Severely From Vertigo and Cancer and Asked Him to End Her Sufferings.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Tottering under the weight of eighty years, William Eberwein, a veteran of the Civil War, faced the bench in the court of oyer and terminer and pleaded guilty to the murder of his wife, Elizabeth, sixty-five years old, last October.

Judge Walling, of Erie, Pa., who is substituting in the Philadelphia court, looked at the bent form as Eberwein stood pallid faced and trembling with more than his years in the prisoner's dock, and fixed the crime as murder in the second degree.

Judge Walling then imposed a sentence that is practically a life one for the aged man, solitary confinement of not less than seven or more than fourteen years in the eastern penitentiary.

The crime for which the aged man was sentenced was a strange one. He loved his wife, had loved her for the thirty-five odd years they had lived together. Neighbors testified to this, as did his stepsons. No motive of any kind was apparent until Eberwein himself was called upon and rose feebly from his chair in the dock and faced the court.

"My wife suffered for seven years with vertigo," he began in a husky voice, not loud, but everyone in the room heard. "Three years ago she got a cancer on her foot. She suffered awful. Then she was always falling down—sometimes in the kitchen, sometimes in the corner, sometimes in the cellar. I was always picking her up. Then she would get over it in a little while. Then she went to a hospital, but it did her no good.

"After she came home, the day this thing happened, I was out in the yard fixing the ash box. She said she was going upstairs to lay down. A little while later I came in for my pipe, and I saw her all piled up at the bottom of the stairs. She must have fallen all the way down from the top.

"I don't remember whether she was bleeding or not, but I know she was badly hurt. She says she is suffering awful, William."

"I'll get an ambulance and take her to the hospital," I said.

"No," she says, "I ain't got much faith in hospitals. I'm hurt too much and I want to die. You do it, William."

"Do what?" I says. "End it all for me," she says.

"No, I can't do that," says I.

"It's no sin," says she, "when I'm suffering so."

"I had a board in my hand that I had brought in out of the yard. I looked at her lying there hurt so, and guessed too it wouldn't be a sin.

"Go on, William," says she, "go on." Then I tapped her on the head with the board and I tapped her again. She didn't move much, and once when I stopped she kind of whispered, "Go on, it won't be long."

"So I kept on tapping her and she got quiet and, it seemed to me, contented while I tapped her with the board."

Eberwein stopped a moment. No one urged him to go on. Not even the judge spoke. The old man seemed to be living it over again. Then he went on.

"Then I was arrested and taken to prison, where I've been dying ever since. If I get out of this I want to go to the old soldiers' home, where I'll be taken care of. I fought in the war, fought for the south, but when the war was over I served in the regular army for a while."

When Eberwein had finished the judge said that the least he could do was to fix his crime at murder in the second degree. For that a seven-year penalty is the minimum, and that was given.

CHICAGO—

G. W. WEAVER & SON

... THE LEADERS ...

General Dry Goods Department Store

We have not for some years advertised a White Goods Sale in JANUARY the time when City stores usually advertise these lines very extensively and in which they offer seemingly great bargains and yet we have always done extra business in this department because of our values - both in made up Underwear and Piece Goods of every character.

The usual city advertisement exploiting these lines is misleading for the reason that comparative values would lead the average reader to believe that there has been a reduction of regular prices special for these sales.

Our purchase of Under Muslins was made months ago when Muslins and Long Cloths were less in price than they have been since. Garments were made for regular stock, not for a Special Sale, priced on the basis of right buying and we are willing to compare values with any store - city or elsewhere.

A large selection of every character in Gowns, Skirts, Drawers, Bloomers, Corset covers, Combinations &c.

In Piece Goods...

We anticipated our January wants, also the probable advance in prices of Cotton Goods and made our contracts months ago to make this saving - which is now yours.

Special Values in Long Cloths,

Cambrics, Sheeting, Lingerie Crepes, Pillow Tubing & Muslins, Check Cambrics & Lawns, Sheets, Pillow Cases &c.

Counterpanes from $1.00 to $4.00 (from 25 cents to $1.00 under present market)

Cambrics - at 8-9-10 cts. worth from 10 to 12 1-2 cts.

Shirtings in Madras and Seersuckers, Piques, Linaires, Percales and Devonshire Cloths, Galateas and Dress Gingham.

And many other New Goods coming in daily.

Screwing up the Eyes.
Disastrous to the beauty of a child's expression is the habit of screwing up the eyes. The trick points very plainly to defective vision and calls aloud for a visit to an oculist. The visit must not be delayed, for ugly wrinkles around the eyes is the least evil of this defect. A short-sighted child is severely handicapped when it begins in school life, and neglected myopia leads to serious eye trouble in later life. Properly prescribed spectacles are all that is required to end this particular trouble.
